

My Creative Zen Vision:M Search & Buy

Article URI

?item=my-creative-zen-vision-m-search-buy

Author

Wayne Drury

Site URI

blog.wjdsystems.co.uk/

Published: August 18, 2006, 1:16 pm

After around 18 months of holding off buying an MP3 player I decided it time to invest in one. Like most people today I looked at the iPod but have heard from friends and colleagues ownership time of various problems with them. I particularly didnt like the restrictions Apple impose on the owner, such as iTunes. I started looking at other options and found an excellent site called AnythingButIPod.com which covers news and reviews on most other MP3 players on the market. I was initially looking for a memory based player for mountain biking, which I narrowed down to either a Sandisk Sensa E270, Samsung YP-Z5 or Creative Zen V Plus. This is where I began reading a number of reviews for common down falls and issues in the players which lead me to another great site, dapreview.net. After reading these reviews and checking of pricing I became to realise it could be worth extending my search to hard drive based players. Based on the price of