Below are three Nikon D70 test shots I have recently used to compare the 1:1 view against my Panazonic FZ50 camera shots.

I was quite surprised at the clarity of the Nikon D70 SLR shots over my Panasonic at 1:1 ratio. The SLR world certainly shows a lot more clarity and sharpness which I expected, but I did not expect the 1:1 shots of my Panasonic to be so blurred when zoomed. I guess this explains why the lense on the Nikon D70 is twice the price of my Panasonic FZ50.
